Brandy Steelman, RN Staff Nurse at NP2GO, time, and that paused my career working as an has been able to turn personal tragedy into a new ER nurse, because of the PTSD that came with career/volunteer path, with the help of her faith, family, friends, and her two dogs.

"In 2017 my husband Micah, of 14 years passed away," she said. "He was a healthy 37-year-old who had a heart attack. I was a nurse, I was right there and worked on him, and he didn't make it. I had a three-year-old and a six-year-old at the everything that happened. I just couldn't go back to work."

Steelman took a year off work, and realized she needed a career change. She enrolled in the University of Central Oklahoma's RN to BSN program.

The RN to BS in nursing track at the University of Central Oklahoma is available online for registered nurses who are interested in furthering their nursing education. Upon successful completion, nurses will have earned a Bachelor of Science degree.

"When my youngest entered kindergarten I felt it might be the time to go ahead and complete that goal of finishing my bachelor's degree," she said. "So, in 2020 I enrolled into the UCO RN to BSN program online. Three months into the program my kid's school shut down (due to COVID-19 pandemic), and I was now a homeschool teacher finishing my bachelor's RN at home. But I did it! I think life has taught me that there will always be challenges, change, bumps in the road, but hard work, and perseverance pays off and you can do those hard things."

In 2021, Steelman, an Edmond resident, started working for NP2GO, a family-owned and operated mobile urgent care specializing in in-home IV fluids, IV Vitamins, and more. NP2GO offers on-demand, in-home assessments, and interventions based on a patient's status.

"I am so thankful to have found NP2GO, as the flexibility allows me to be both mom and nurse again," she said. "I am excited to be a part of this team, to build relationships with our clients, and to meet them where they are for their healthcare needs. Working at NP2GO allows me to serve my community where they are by taking nursing to them in their homes or on the job. I love this job! I know as a single mother now,

"Studies show that dogs can increase serotonin and decrease anxiety in humans," taking time out of my own schedule to care for myself can be a challenge and through this job, I am able to help others do this easier by bringing healthcare to them."

While completing her Bachelor's degree, Steelman researched the benefits of therapy dogs in nursing.

"Studies show that dogs can increase serotonin and decrease anxiety in humans," she said. "While working as an ER nurse I was able to interact with therapy dogs in the hospital and experienced firsthand the connections that they can make during a stressful work day. The desire to pursue therapy dog work became evident while completing my degree and realizing how much having our dogs has helped us in our own story. My children have benefited from therapy dogs helping them work through grief, calming anxiety, building trust, and turning fear into confidence."

Steelman said her own dogs are certified therapy dogs through Alliance of Therapy Dogs.

"Since completing my bachelor's degree in 2020, I have found many new and exciting ways to use my nursing career," she said. "Giving back to the community has been at the forefront of my goals. If it weren't for a huge support system and the people in my personal community I would not be where I am today. We (she and her dogs) are volunteering at schools and hospitals. It gives me a lot of joy knowing that I am sharing what has helped me with others."

Steelman started her nursing adventure in high school attending CareerTech where she received her medical assistant certification.

"From there I graduated and went to college where I obtained my LPN and worked in oncology at INTEGRIS," she said, "In 2006 I completed my associate RN degree. I worked as an ER nurse from that point on."

Steelman said it has taken a village to help her achieve her goals. "Widowed, single mother, working, and juggling all the activities doesn't come without its challenges, and learning that balance is a daily adjustment," she said. "I have found that keeping God as the center priority is what keeps our family grounded, and maintaining that inner circle of support because it truly does take a village, and I am thankful I have a big one."

Steelman credits her husband for having faith in her to finish her schooling.

"He always wanted me to go back to school," she said. "He said it was something that I needed to do. He encouraged me. I think my husband would be very proud of how I have not let hard things stop me from pursuing my goals, and from making new goals."

CAREERS IN NURSING: KINDNESS SHINES FOR DON: RN REACHES OUT TO RESIDENTS, STAFF by James Coburn - staff writer

There are meaningful moments Kelsey Golden loves about Wildewood Skilled Nursing and Rehab, located in Oklahoma City. A couple of residents come to see her multiple times a day, said Golden, RN, and director of nursing.

"I think it gives me something to look forward to every day knowing I can make a difference," Golden said. "I can take care of someone's family member and make their day a little bit better."

One quiet gentleman who is hard of hearing will ask her to accompany him outside for a break.

"He'll come grab me. We'll lock arms and we'll go outside," Golden said. "We've got a good relationship. He was kind of a difficult one to get that relationship with. He'll water my plant for me and he's really sweet."

Getting to know the residents is what she cherishes about being a nurse. After being an LPN for two years, Golden earned her nursing degree two years ago at Oklahoma City Community College. She has been with Wildewood Skilled Nursing and Rehab for two years. "I came from an ER. There we see them for a couple of hours, get them stabilized and send them to the floor," Golden said. "Here these patients are with us for quite a while, so I can see them and see how they progress. I like seeing that progression, how they were when they come to us and how they do throughout the time they spend here."

She is supportive of the hardworking nursing staff. The family atmosphere involves everyone. They light up the halls with humor rather than just doing their jobs and going home. They make a positive difference in the lives of residents and the staff themselves, Golden said.

"They're here all the time picking up extra shifts and caring for the residents. It makes a good work environment," she added.

Residents have a say in what their activities are. Some of them like going to the casino at Remington Park, a movie theatre or the zoo. And once a month, all the directors form three or four groups to take part in their own activities with the residents. They learn of the residents' interests and the residents learn more about their lives, too.

"We do have a younger population here. It's not your typical 80 or 90-year-olds. We have 20, 30, 40-yearolds here," she said.

Some of the residents had been at the Oklahoma City Rescue Mission, others in need were brought to Wildewood by family members who could no longer care for them. Golden said some of residents were in need of having their psychiatric medicine regulated and have them stabilized before going out and doing everyday things they enjoy.

A large portion of the residents don't have family members visit them. Their families may have dropped them off at Wildewood Skilled Nursing and Rehab and then they never returned.

"Knowing that — they're looking forward to us to come and spend time with them," Golden said. "I really enjoy that. It makes me feel good about my job and lets me know that I chose the right career path."

One of the residents had struggled with anger issues when he first came to Wildewood. Golden is one who listens. The man now knows that he can come share conversation with her at any time, she said. She is keenly available. Golden said not everyone in his life has known how to properly deal with his anger issues.

"Knowing that I can makes me feel good about that. We have a great relationship. He has never felt the need to argue with me or be hateful to me or get upset and angry," Golden explained. "That makes me feel really good and feel that I'm doing something right."

Golden also pointed out the quality of her CNAs who do the lions share of personal care for residents. One CNA who is studying to become a certified medication aide has excelled in helping the staff with their restorative program and staffing.

"We actually hired her uncertified and we got her trained and certified. And she is one of the best CNAs that we have," Golden said.

Oklahoma's Nursing Times

(AS PUBLISHED IN THE 2022 EDUCATION GUIDE TO NURSING)

Long regarded as one of the top nursing programs in the state, Oklahoma City University's Kramer School of Nursing will expand its offerings this fall, offering two fully online options for the Master of Science in Nursing and RN-BSN programs.

"We recognize that postlicensure nurses may need or desire more flexibility and convenience when returning to school to obtain a higher degree," said Dr. Gina Crawford, Interim Dean, OCU Kramer School of Nursing and the College of Health Professions. "We believe our online options will allow for a greater number of nurses to advance their education in a way that best fits their needs and busy schedules. While being more convenient, the quality of our programs and the dedication of our faculty continues to be nothing less than outstanding."

The MSN program at Kramer School of Nursing provides students with the opportunity to obtain a Master's Degree focused on Education or Leadership. The program is 33 credit hours offered in the spring, summer, and fall.

The majority of students complete the program in five semesters while maintaining fulltime employment. The MSN program is intentionally designed to support the needs of the adult learner and will be offered completely online starting in the Fall of 2022.

"To me, what makes Kramer unique is the authentic, so caring relationships among faculty, staff, and students. It creates an environment where true learning can occur, and students thrive. In turn, we see this positively affect patient outcomes and advance the discipline," said Vanessa Wright, PhD, MSN, RN, Chair of Graduate Education.

The RN-BSN track is designed for working nurses to attain their BSN. It is 30 credit hours, 18 credit hours in nursing, and 12 general education electives.

"We are proud of the relationships formed between RN-BSN faculty and students and we look forward to continuing those relationships within the fully online platform. We will continue to offer an in-person option for nurses who prefer in-person instruction," said Professor Pam Tucker, Chair, RN-BSN. "The RN-BSN faculty are supportive and accessible to the students. We recognize the students as adult learners and value the experience each student brings with them to the RN-BSN track. Being part of the journey as RNs achieve their goals is an honor."

RN-BSN alumna, Connie Benhmida, RN stated, "I have been a professional nurse for 21 years and my lifelong goal of earning my BSN seemed out of reach. I discovered the opportunity to achieve my dreams by attending OCU KSN's RN-BSN program. The professors and staff at KSN understand the unique challenges that working adults encounter when deciding to return to school. My nursing instructors embraced me, encouraged me, and celebrated my achievements."

Those seeking a terminal degree are well-served at OCU.

The PhD degree prepares expert nurses in nursing education, research, and leadership to serve the community, state, and nation.

The PhD program combines educational delivery methods, allowing students to keep fulltime jobs and live in their own communities. Through hybrid course design, students meet on campus for 2-3 days at the beginning of each semester and complete courses online over the remainder of the semester. The program requires 57 post-master's credit hours.

The DNP program at KSN provides a blend of in-person instruction and distance education.

The BSN-DNP program tracks include family nurse practitioner (FNP), adult-gerontology acute care (AGACNP), and psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner (PMHNP). All three tracks are also offered as post-master certificates (PMC).

DNP-Completion options are also available for MSN-prepared nurses seeking a terminal degree. "Faculty and staff are very proud of the quality, collaborative care provided by our graduates to their communities," said Dr. Cene' Livingston, Interim Chair of Advanced Practice Programs.

"I am very grateful to take part in OCU's first PMHNP postmaster class," said student Dyanna Johnston (PMC PMHNP)." This program allows me to work fulltime and receive quality education from experienced instructors."

BSN-DNP alum Christin Tomlinson, FNP, echoed that sentiment.

"I highly recommend the program to anyone seeking a graduate nursing degree," she said. "The professors helped me understand the material, secure clinical placement and were always available for a kind word of encouragement."

OCU Kramer School of Nursing invites you to visit their upcoming College of Health Professions Open House on June 28 at OCU.

Virtual information sessions are also available on May 10 and July 12. Application deadline for the PMC PMHNP track is April 1.

Oklahoma Children's Hospital OU Health Neonatal Specialty Team Heads to Florida to help Evacuate NICU Babies

Oklahoma Children's Hospital team members who left for Fort Myers, FI. (front to back): Jamie Lewis, Chelsea Watson and Kaylun Peters.

The Oklahoma Children's Hospital OU Health neonatal transport services team left for Fort Myers, Florida, today to assist in evacuating NICU babies from area hospitals. Oklahoma Children's Hospital's team was requested due to being one of only a few neonatal transport teams in the nation. It is expected they will assist in evacuating up to 75 critically ill and preterm babies to other hospitals in the state or nearby states, depending upon hospital access.

"The impact of Hurricane Ian has been devastating for Florida. With one of only a few neonatal care flight teams in the country, we have a rare skill set needed to evacuate critically ill and premature babies out of the hurricane zone and to safe hospital surroundings. As Oklahomans, we have been through natural disasters and have seen first responders from across the country come to our aid. It is our honor to head to Florida and help these patients and their families," said Andrew Gormley, M.D., medical director Oklahoma Children's Hospital Critical Care Transport.

"We feel very fortunate to possess the skills that are needed to be able to help these babies in their time of need. When we received the call to help it was never question of IF we were going. It was how fast can we safely get there to get to work evacuating the babies in need," Kaylun Peters, Oklahoma Children's Hospital neonatal transport team member.

The three Oklahoma Children's Hospital team members who left today are: Jamie Lewis, Chelsea Watson and Kaylun Peters.

Parker Begins Role as OBU's New Chair of Nursing

Dr. Stephanie Parker, MSN, RN, and new chair of the Oklahoma Baptist University School of Nursing.

Oklahoma Baptist University is pleased to welcome Dr. Stephanie Parker, MSN, RN, as the new chair of the School of Nursing. She began her duties Oct. 1 as the Lawrence C. and Marion Harris Chair of Nursing and Associate Professor of Nursing. Parker takes the place of Dr. Robbie Henson, OBU's former Chair of Nursing, who retired in May after 31 years of service.

Parker received her Doctor of Education in Leadership from Hardin-Simmons University and both her Bachelor of Science in Nursing, and her Master of Science in Nursing Administration from the University of Texas, Arlington.

Most recently, Parker worked as a clinical educator for the Avem Health Partners in the Oklahoma City metro area and was responsible for planning, coordinating and overseeing the educational needs of the employees while meeting all required regulatory mandates. Prior to that position, Parker served as director of nursing at Paris Junior College in Paris, Texas. She has more than 15 years of experience in the higher education realm as a member of the nursing faculty, coordinator of associate degree nursing, interim director of health occupations and interim dean of health occupations and divisional chair at Paris Junior College. Parker began her journey as a registered nurse in 1994.

Dr. Larinee Dennis, OBU dean of business, health science and education said, "I am delighted to bring Dr. Stephanie Parker to Bison Hill as the next chief nursing officer for the School of Nursing. She is a creative thinker and I look forward to working with her to consider the future of nursing education at OBU."

"I am very excited and honored to join the OBU family," Parker said. "OBU has a beautiful history of faith and tradition as well as a demonstrated commitment to the education of students while growing the body of Christ. The opportunity to join OBU and impact the education of future nurses is a privilege, and I look forward to becoming an integral part of this outstanding institution."

The OBU School of Nursing began in 1952. Its faculty has continued to provide students with a high-quality curriculum that is contemporary, relevant and meets the ever-changing needs of healthcare. It has maintained continuous accreditation, currently through the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, throughout its history. In 2021, OBU nursing graduates averaged a 93% licensure first-time pass rate.

Putnam City Schools donate $60,000 to cancer research at OMRF

Katherine Jackson, donor relations coordinator for the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation, accepts a $60,000 donation from Dick Balenseifen, Putnam City School District athletic director, on Oct. 3, 2022.

Putnam City Schools officials this week presented the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation with a check for $60,000 to support cancer research at the Oklahoma City nonprofit.

The district's total contributions to OMRF since 1975 exceed $3.8 million.

"Putnam City Schools values our decades-long partnership with OMRF," said Dr. Fred Rhodes, the district's superintendent. "Our fundraising includes both districtwide events like the Putnam City Cancer Classic 5K and separate projects at our 27 school sites. We're both pleased and proud to be able to raise these significant amounts of money throughout the school year to help give back to OMRF."

Now in its 47th year, Putnam City's annual cancer drive stretches across the academic year. It has included everything from carnivals and bake sales to car washes and the chance to dump slime on teachers in exchange for donations.

Putnam City High School teacher Lois Thomas started the drive in 1975 in response to the recent cancer-related deaths of four colleagues and the diagnosis of the district's superintendent. Thomas organized a change drive like the ones she had participated in as a child to combat polio. "She really did think, 'If everybody gave pennies, look how much money that would be," said her daughter, Carolyn Churchill.

Since then, the millions of dollars raised by students, teachers and staff have paid for research, supplies and established OMRF's Putnam City Schools Distinguished Chair in Cancer Research.

Work at OMRF has led to an experimental drug now undergoing clinical trials at the OU Health Stephenson Cancer Center and 12 other sites around the U.S. to treat patients with glioblastoma, an aggressive brain cancer. The drug has also shown promise in diffuse intrinsic pontine glioma (DIPG), a fast-growing pediatric cancer that starts in the brain stem.

"We are so grateful to Putnam City Schools for their long-standing support of our cancer research," said OMRF scientist Linda Thompson, Ph.D., who holds the Putnam City Schools Distinguished Chair in Cancer Research. "Every year, students or teachers come up with some creative new fundraising mechanism. Their ingenuity is amazing, and it's very much appreciated."

OSDH Children First Program Celebrates 25 Years of Service to Oklahoma

Children First is a voluntary program for first-time moms where a specially trained public health nurse will make home visits throughout a pregnancy up until a baby is two years old, at no charge, for those who qualify.

Data show outcomes of moms who participate in the program carry their baby to full term, initiate breastfeeding, keep their baby up-to-date with wellness exams and complete all immunizations by 24 months.

To recognize the past and present Children First staff, clients and advocates, a celebration event will take place from 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 6 at the Strata Tower at Oklahoma Commons Outdoor Pavilion. The event is free and open to the public.

"I am proud of the work we have been able to accomplish for Oklahoma families over the past 25 years," said Susan Wegrzynski, the Nurse Consultant for Children First. "We are thankful for the research done by Dr. David Olds, who created the "Olds Model" now known as Nurse-Family Partnership, that we follow, and for the 1996 Oklahoma State Legislature that authorized legislation to create Children First, which led to implementation in 1997 at several pilot sites in the state."

Currently there are approximately 70 nurse home visitors and nurse supervisors who are spread out across the state, serving Oklahomans in 47 counties.

Those attending and speaking at the event include keynote speaker Dr. David Olds, former legislators Ben Brown and Ben Robinson, Commissioner of Health, Keith Reed and others.

Neuropathy has many different causes. The most common metabolic cause are patients with diabetes. Nearly 60% of all patients with diabetes develop neuropathy. This can commonly present as pain, numbness, swelling, burning, tingling, sleepless nights, balance issues.

Other causes of Neuropathy include:

- Chemotherapy
- Alcoholism
- Drugs/prescription medications
- Battlefield toxins, industrial toxins
- Vitamin deficiencies
- Acute physical Trauma
- Post-surgical pain

Electroanalgesia Benefits

Over 80% of patients report a significant reduction in pain.

Treatments are covered by most insurance plans, including Medicare and VA programs.

No opioid drowsiness, addiction concerns, or side effects.

Enjoy better sleep due to reduced pain and recover more quickly from knee and hip surgery.

Patients reduce chemotherapy side effects and are better able to complete the entire treatment cycle.

Patients don't feel trapped by pain. They are able to move and get exercise, leading to healthier outcomes for all other medical treatments.
